CONFORMATION JUDGE

Mr. Eugene Blake

Tulsa, Oklahoma

When I started in dogs, I didn't even think about that. Judging was not on my mind. I was 18 years old when I first got involved with dogs, and the way I got involved was that I used to drive a delivery truck for a drugstore in Houston, Texas. I worked there with another guy who asked me, "Gene, would you like to have a part-time job?" Well, I didn't have anything else to do, so I replied, "Yeah." He said, "There's this lady over here at the French Poodle shop who needs someone to bathe dogs. You ain't got to like dogs, all you gotta do is pretend you like dogs 'cause she really needs somebody." Well, I liked dogs, but I had never seen a purebred dog in my life. I was raised in the country where we had hunting dogs that stayed underneath the house. Anyway, I applied, and Hazel Hamm gave me the job. I started in September and worked there from 8 to 12. I would bathe some of the dogs, and then dry them before hustling over to the drugstore to work from 2 to 10. Any time I had a delivery over that way, I would go back and look at the dogs as they were being finished. I was just fascinated to see all the dogs I had never seen before. I like to let people know that I judge dogs to the Breed Standard. I've studied dogs to judge them to the Standard, and that's how I make my decisions. What I was thinking about doing is what I think about doing every time I walk through a gate at a dog show; that is, to find the best dog in that ring according to the Standard.
